History of Central Library

In May 1980, a new Central Library was opened to the public under the leadership of Ella Gaines Yates, first African-American director of the library system. Marcel Breuer, a participant in the innovative Bauhaus Movement, planned and designed the building, working closely with his associate Hamilton Smith, although Breuer did not live to see its completion. In 2002, the centennial of when library service was first offered to the public a major renovation of the Central Library was completed.

Praise for the first edition

"James Cook has provided a much-needed volume—one that fills a major void in Georgia's written record. . . . The sketches are clear and concise, and a picture is provided for most entries. . . . the book is a welcome addition to Georgia collections."

—Georgia Librarian

"This volume will make it easier to find an overall view or specific facts on any governor. It should be especially helpful in public school libraries."

—Kenneth Coleman,
Georgia Historical Quarterly

"[Governors of Georgia]. . . is both interesting reading and a solid piece of research."

—Emory Magazine

"History teachers should be able to make good use of graphic details in Governors of Georgia in their efforts to transform a potentially dull, overfactual discipline into what history actually is—dramas of life. . . . This book is an ideal gift for history buffs."

—Atlanta Historical Society Journal

*Revised and expanded.
From royal governor to current governor.
The office through three centuries.*

James F. Cook is professor of history at Floyd College in Rome, Georgia. He is the author of Carl Sanders: Spokesman of the New South (MERCER, 1993) and has written numerous articles on Georgia history.

ON THE MOVE

In Atlanta

The Atlanta office of Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell & Berkowitz, PC, announced that health care attorneys Phyllis Granade, Gary McClanahan and Andrew Lemons have joined the practice, and Ed Novotny has joined the business transaction and relations litigation practice as an of counsel member. Granade was a partner in the Atlanta office of Epstein, Becker & Green, P.C., while both McClanahan and Lemons come to the firm from Alston & Bird LLP. Granade has extensive experience in the field of health information and technology and is author of a chapter on telemedicine and medical malpractice published by the American Health Lawyers Association. Currently, she provides privacy and security compliance advice regarding state and federal laws to a wide range of health care providers, including for-profit and not-for-profit hospital systems representing more than 300 hospitals in the United States. McClanahan is a recognized authority on health care fraud and abuse issues and advises clients on the Medicare Anti-Kickback Statute, the Stark Law, the Civil Monetary Penalties Statute, the False Claims Act, and similar federal and state laws. He is a frequent speaker on a variety of health care issues, including fraud and abuse, e-health, managed care, and HIPAA issues. Lemons has spent a large portion of his time over the past two years practicing extensively in the area of clinical research trial issues. In the past, Lemons has served as in-house counsel for the physician practice plan of a major academic medical center. Novotny has extensive experience handling complex civil litigation in state and federal courts. He also has substantial experience with litigation involving religious non-profits, including clerical malpractices and First Amendment issues. The Atlanta office is located at 5 Concourse Parkway, Suite 900, Atlanta, GA 30328; (678) 406-8700; Fax (678) 406-8701; www.bakerdonelson.com.

Donald A. Weissman, P.C., announced that Tuyen Thanh Huu (Jacey) Nguyen has become associated with the firm. Nguyen will be focusing her practice on Family Law. The office is located at 6425 Powers Ferry Road NW, Suite 295, Atlanta, GA 30339; (770) 956-1444; Fax (770) 956-1334.

Reporter of Decisions for the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals of Georgia, where he was responsible for the review of both legal and editorial content of opinions set down from each court. During his 21-year tenure as reporter, the caseload of the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals grew to the highest of any appellate court in the country. Henwood was also instrumental in the introduction of computer processing in the reporting of judicial decisions, essentially introducing digitization to the reporting process. He will serve as the head of the firm's newly formed appellate practice group, and will be active in other administrative and management roles within the firm, including community involvement and public relations. Henwood has also been active in the local legal community, serving as president of the Lawyers Club of Atlanta, Inc., from 2003-04, and currently serving as president of The Advocates, Ltd. The fellowship is a valuable opportunity for young lawyers pursuing a career in public service. Davis, the Atlanta office's third fellow, will spend four months of her first year working at Atlanta Legal Aid Society. She will also serve as guardian ad litem for alleged status offenders in the firm's guardian ad litem project with the Fulton County Juvenile Court and will handle potential cases referred by the Atlanta Legal Aid Society and the Atlanta Volunteer Lawyers Foundation, among others. Re: Supreme Court Archives/Correspondence

Dear Ms. Welch,

Recently, I was invited to contribute a chapter to a Court of Appeals. I need your assistance in locating historical supreme Court documents for this project.

As you may know, justices of the Supreme Court strongly advocated the creation of the Court of Appeals, which ultimately occurred in 1906. Accordingly, I have been attempting to locate the correspondence of the various justices from the 1890s and early twentieth century. Specifically, I want to review the correspondence and other communications the justices would have written or received on the subject in their official capacity as justices to legislators, bar associations, and other interested parties, as well as information regarding caseload and budget considerations. To date, I have not been able to find any such archived material anywhere, including the state archives in Morrow. This material would be extremely helpful in researching and writing my chapter. Does your office have these documents, and are they open to researchers? If you do not have them, do you know who may possess them?

I certainly would appreciate any assistance or guidance you may be able to provide me. If you would like confirmation of my participation in the book project please contact Professor E. R. Lanier of the Georgia State University's College of Law at (404) 651-2096.

Very truly yours,

David H. Connolly, Jr.

Founded in 1985 by a group appointed by the Supreme Court of Georgia and the Georgia Court of Appeals, the Georgia Legal History Foundation, Inc. became one of the first organizations in the nation to be chartered to promote the study and preservation of the legal history of an individual state. The Foundation has sponsored an annual seminar, for which professional attendees receive continuing legal education credit; has held a series of annual dinner meetings featuring speeches by distinguished American legal historians; and has sustained the Nestor Awards program, which seeks to honor the accomplishments of leading Georgia lawyers. The Foundation has also recreated the Atlanta law office of Woodrow Wilson and underwritten the preservation of Wilson memorabilia. Activities of the Foundation directly contribute to the implementation of innovative professionalism programs in Georgia originated by former Chief Justices Harold G. Clarke and Thomas O. Marshall, both of whom, along with former Chief Justice Harold N. Hill, Jr. have been deeply involved in the activities of the Foundation.

Question / Comment: I am producing a documentary on the History of the Georgia Court of Appeals for the 100th anniversary. I am going to be videotaping the outside and inside of the Capitol. Do I need any special credentials to do this or will my Court of Appeals ID Badge be OK.

Thank you.

Dear Mr. McAteer:

I am enclosing a picture of Judge John B. Guerry which I understand that you wanted for the Centennial Project. I am the youngest daughter of Judge Guerry and live in Montezuma, Ga.

I am also enclosing a copy of a picture of the entire Court of Appeals in 1934. This was copied from a picture in the brown section of the Atlanta Journal in April of 1934.

I hope that this will be of help to you in your project

Sincerely,

Re: Photos of judges

Dear Mr. McAteer:

In email correspondence with Kate Ripple, she indicated I should send this CD to you. On the CD you will find photos of judges who were Mercer University students. A name is with each file. Some of them were on paper that made it difficult to get a good scan, but my student assistant, Katie Blackburn, in charge of scanning did the best she could with them. She has excellent skill and knowledge about scanning, but of course she isn't a magician!

Please let me know if we can help you again.

Sincerely yours,

Arlette Copeland
