

Caseload Statistics

Filings have increased from 3312 to 3464 from 2011 to 2012 or 4.6%. Direct appeals increased; applications were slightly less in 2012 than in 2011. The average case per judge were 289 in 2012. At this point in the 2013 Terms, we have about 2.5% more direct appeals than in 2012.

E-filing

The number of electronic filings have continued to increase. The number of questions and requests for assistance in e-filing have declined. The Clerk's office is now scanning almost all paper filings which permits counsel in a case to view these filings as well as e-filed documents.

We expect to add e-filing of applications and emergency motions before the end of the year

Operations

The Court is conducting a review of its internal operating procedures and rules to make sure they are in line with electronic filing and current court procedures.

Holly Sparrow - Oral Argument Rescheduling Request - A13A1395

From: Terry Jones
To: Holly Sparrow
Date: 4/18/2013 11:43 AM
Subject: Oral Argument Rescheduling Request - A13A1395
CC: Stephen Louis A. Dillard; Terry Jones

Holly,

Just following-up to see when we will know which month the above-referenced case for oral argument will be rescheduled. We have the custom order ready to be processed Granting this request.

Thank you.

Terry Jones
Chambers of Judge Stephen Dillard
Court of Appeals of Georgia

>>> On behalf of Judge Stephen Dillard (Terry Jones) 4/8/2013 10:33 AM >>>
Holly,

Judge Dillard has a pending Motion to Reschedule Oral Argument for case A13A1395 which is currently scheduled for oral argument on June 12, 2013. Judge Dillard would like to GRANT this request because Judge Irwin Stolz was a Court of Appeals Judge from 1972-1977. Before we draft a custom order, can you coordinate this with the oral argument schedule and with the presiding judge for Division Three before we submit the order?

Thank you.

Terry Jones

Notes: 10 states do not have a IAC, ND has a temporary IAC. There are 40 IAC courts, but only 19 reported opinions per judge.

There are multiple intermediate appellate courts in some states. There is only one intermediate appellate court in Georgia.

The caseload comparison is of courts not states; the population comparison is by state.

List of U.S. states and territories by population

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

This is a list of U.S. states by population (with inhabited non-state jurisdictions included for comparison) as of April 1, 2010, the date of the 2010 United States Census. The nine most populous states contain slightly more than half of the total population. The 25 least populous states contain less than one-sixth of the total population. California, the most populous state, contains more people than the 21 least populous states combined.

Methodology

The United States Census counts most persons residing in the United States including citizens, non-citizen permanent residents, and non-citizen long-term visitors.^[1] Civilian and military federal employees serving abroad and their dependents are counted in their home state.^[2]

Electoral apportionment

Based on data from the decennial census, each state is allocated a proportion of the 435 seats in the United States House of Representatives, although each state is guaranteed a minimum of one seat, regardless of population. This apportionment is based on the proportion of each state's population to that of the Fifty States together (without regard to the populations of the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico or other U.S. dependencies). The Electoral College is the body that, every four years, elects the president and vice president of the United States. Each state's representation in the Electoral College is equal to that state's total number of members in both houses of the United States Congress. The Twenty-third Amendment to the United States Constitution grants the District of Columbia, which is separate from any state, three votes. More precisely, it gets as many votes in the Electoral College as it would have if it were a state, but no more votes than the state with the fewest votes, which is currently three (e.g. Wyoming). Thus, the total representation in the College is 538 members (equal to 100 senators plus 435 representatives, plus 3 members for the District of Columbia).^[3] The 11 most populous states, representing 56% of the population, have a majority of the Electoral College votes, enough to elect the president.

Calculating Pending Caseloads

When using the first eight status categories in the Caseload Summary, the calculation of pending caseloads is quite simple. The End Pending-Active caseload is calculated by adding the Begin Pending-Active, Filed, and Reactivated cases, then subtracting from that total the sum of Disposed, and Placed Inactive.

Begin Pending-Active	30
+ Filed	110
+ Reactivated	10
	150
Disposed	120
+ Placed Inactive	5
	(125)
End Pending-Active	25

The inactive caseload calculation is also straightforward. Add the number of Begin Pending-Inactive and Placed Inactive cases and subtract the Reactivated cases.

Begin Pending-Inactive	15
+ Placed Inactive	5
	20
Reactivated	10
	(10)
End Pending-Inactive	10

Using the Interlocutory Status Category

Within the Caseload Summary section of the Appellate Court Caseload Summary and Manner of Disposition Matrix there is an Interlocutory status category. Unlike the other eight status categories, the Interlocutory status category is not part of the calculations for determining active and inactive pending caseloads. Instead, this status category is designed to capture a characteristic of filed cases.

Using the example caseload above, assume that 25 of the 110 cases filed are appeals that arise from tort cases, and, of those 25 appeals, 10 are being filed prior to receiving a trial court judgment. The court would report all 25 of the appeals as Filed (within the appellate case type of Civil: Tort, Contract, and Real Property), but would also report 10 as Interlocutory (also within the appellate case type of Civil: Tort, Contract, and Real Property). Having the Interlocutory appellate status category allows the court to track the number of appeals that are received prior to the end of trial court proceedings (i.e., the interlocutory characteristic of the appeal) without losing the detail of the appellate case type.

Disposed Cases and Manner of Disposition

Reporting the court’s dispositions is a three-step process. First, the number of appeals/original proceedings that are disposed during the reporting period should be recorded in the Disposed status category of the Caseload Summary. Second, the manner in which those cases are disposed should be reported in the Manner of Disposition section of the Matrix. Third, for those appeals/original proceedings that the court Decided, the a) type of court opinion and b) case outcome should also be reported.

Using the example caseload above, assume that 50 of the 120 disposed cases were for worker’s compensation appeals. For Step 1, the court would report all 50 of those appeals as Disposed (within the appellate case type of Administrative Agency: Worker’s Compensation). For Step 2, the court would report the ways in which those 50 appeals were disposed (also within the appellate case type of Administrative Agency: Worker’s Compensation). For example:

Decided	20
Permission Denied	0
Dismissed Prior to Decision	5
Settled/Withdrawn	10
Court ADR	10
Transferred	5
Other Resolution	0

Now assume that the following types of opinions (Step 3a) were issued for the 20 Decided Worker’s Compensation appeals:

Full Opinion	5
Memorandum	5
Summary/Dispositional Order	10
Other Opinion	0

And that those opinions espoused the following case outcomes (Step 3b):

Affirmed/Granted	10
Reversed/Denied	0
Modified/Granted in Part	5
Dismissed	5
Other Outcome	0

Georgia Court of Appeals
 Intermediate appellate court
 4 divisions; 12 judges sit in panels and en banc
 January 1, 2010 to December 31, 2010

Units of count:

The appeal by right unit of count is the notice of appeal, and is counted at the filing of the trial record with the appellate court.

The appeal by permission unit of count is the application for leave to appeal, and is counted at the filing of the application with the appellate court.

See the qualifying footnote for each case type and/or status category. An "A" footnote represents complete data. All caseload summary qualifying footnotes for case type footnotes apply to manner of disposition, type of court opinion, and case outcome data unless otherwise noted.

Note:

The Georgia Court of Appeals processes appeal by permission cases as follows: when an application for leave to appeal is granted, the movant files a notice of appeal with the trial court, and that case is docketed as an appeal by right. For this reason, the Court's grand total filing, disposed, and decided data are overinclusive when based on the national reporting model's recommendation that appeal by permission cases be tracked from beginning to end, with the granting of the application for leave to appeal being treated as an event within the processing of the appeal by permission. Since the Court requires that a notice of appeal be filed following the grant of an application, that filing creates an appeal by right.
